

Reporting Misuse, Mistreatment, or Non-Compliance

If you observe misuse or mistreatment of animals, or you see procedures that you don't think comply with federal regulations or guidelines, report it immediately to your veterinarian or the IACUC.

Once an allegation of mistreatment, misuse, or noncompliance is received, the USDA Animal Welfare Regulations<sup>1</sup> and PHS Policy<sup>2</sup> require the IACUC to review and if warranted, investigate the allegations, whether made by the public or an employee of the institution.

The IACUC then makes recommendations to the "Institutional Official", which reviews the report and decides if additional action is needed.

If the IACUC or the Attending Veterinarian decides that any animal activities need to be stopped to protect either animals or people, they are given clear regulatory authority<sup>3,6</sup> to do so. In fact, if an IACUC votes to suspend a protocol or animal activity, that decision cannot be overturned by any administrator at the institution.

If an institution accepts PHS funding, any protocol suspension must be reported by the Institutional Official to the National Health Institute Office of Laboratory Animal Welfare.

Other Considerations

Some other considerations:

1. If you see that animals are in immediate danger (e.g. flooded cage, limb entrapment, etc.) or in pain, take immediate steps to remove animals from the threat.

If you see that animals are in potential danger (e.g. potential overcrowding, low food/water levels, etc.), immediately notify the animal care or veterinary staff.

2. IACUC members take their job of investigating and correcting problems very seriously. However, if you are not satisfied with the final actions taken by the local IACUC or institutional administrators, and remain concerned that animals are being misused, mistreated, or are otherwise not being used for IACUC-approved research, contact the Office of Laboratory Animal Welfare (OLAW)<sup>4</sup> or USDA Animal Welfare<sup>5</sup>.

At the University of Kentucky, the following sign should be displayed prominently in every animal housing and usage location:

Humane Animal Care and Use

All animals owned or used by the University of Kentucky for research or training will receive proper care, and will be used humanely in accordance with approved protocols, federal laws, and University of Kentucky regulations and guidelines. Any person who witnesses or suspects abuse of said animals is encouraged to report their concern to:

Chairperson
UK Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee
(859) 218-3811
UK Attending Veterinarian
(859) 257-1117
UK Vice President for Research
(859) 257-5294
Or contact the Office of Research Integrity anonymously at 1-(866)-400-9428 (toll free call)

Written concerns may be sent to the
UK Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee
Room 443, Bowman Hall
Lexington, KY 40506-0059

NO ADVERSE ACTION WILL BE TAKEN AGAINST ANYONE MAKING A REPORT.
YOU ARE NOT REQUIRED TO GIVE YOUR NAME

If you do not see this sign anywhere in the location in which you use or house animals, please notify the Office of the Attending Veterinarian and request one.
