Re: Community and Leadership Development Proposal (GR05-01)

Attached are two course proposals from CLD. The first is for a new course, CLD 650 -- Applied Community Communications -- designed to be an elective in the MS program in Career, Technical and Leadership Education.

The second proposal is a minor change in title and cross-listing for the existing course, CLD 682. The name will change from “Applied Research Methods” to “Research Methods” and will be cross-listed as AED/CLD/FCS 682.

Please direct comments on these proposals to me at mike.mullen@uky.edu by October 17, 2005.

Re:     Curriculum Proposals

I have attached two curriculum proposals. One is an application for a new course CLD 650 Applied Community Communications. It is designed to function as a specialty elective in the Community and Leadership Development option in the MS program in Career, Technical and Leadership Education (CTLE).

The second proposal is for a minor change in an existing course. The proposal would change the title of CLD 682 from “Applied Research Methods” to “Research Methods.” The purpose of the change is to have a general title which is accepted across discipline and university lines in the social sciences. The proposal would also cross-list CLD 682 as AED and FSC 682. Since 682 is appropriate for and needed by students in the Career and Technical Education option of the CTLE program, it would be very beneficial for it to be cross-listed as AED and FCS which are the prefixes used by Career and Technical Education so we can sort students by program option.

Both of these proposals have departmental support and I hope they are approved.
