2021 Kentucky Water Resources Annual Symposium

September 13, 2021

Marriott Griffin Gate Resort
Lexington, Kentucky

The 2021 Kentucky Water Resources Annual Symposium will be held on Monday, September 13, 2021, at the Marriott Griffin Gate Resort (1800 Newtown Pike, Lexington, KY 40511). The symposium encourages information transfer by providing opportunities for individuals conducting water-related work (e.g., research, practice, education) to discuss their activities with others interested in the waters of the Commonwealth. The Kentucky Water Resources Research Institute invites abstract submissions for platform and poster presentations describing recent or ongoing research projects on water or other related environmental activities. We are particularly interested in the following topics:

- Sediments and Nutrients
- Water and Wastewater Infrastructure
- Community Engagement and Citizen Science
- Water Policy, Planning, and Socioeconomics
- Water and Wastewater Treatment Technology
- Groundwater and Karst
- Watersheds and Stormwater
- Aquatic Ecosystems
- Soils and Agriculture
- Hydrology and Hydraulics

Abstracts should be single-spaced, 12-point Times New Roman, with one-inch margins and double-spacing between paragraphs. Illustrations, including figures, maps, diagrams, and graphs, should be clear, legible, and suitable for black and white duplication. Authors should limit abstracts to two (2) pages, including illustrations. At the top of the page, please provide the Abstract Title (centered, bold, and please do not use all caps), Name of Principal Investigator(s), Title, Department and University, and Email Address. Please carefully proofread your submission for accuracy. Abstracts will be provided to symposium attendees and will be publicly available through the University of Kentucky's institutional repository, UKnowledge, after the symposium.

Abstracts must be submitted in Word format to kwrrri@uky.edu by June 30, 2021. Authors should clearly indicate in the accompanying email: (1) preferred format for the presentation (platform or poster), (2) the anticipated presenting author, and (3) academic year if presenter is a student.

Authors will be notified of acceptance in July 2021 and will be expected to present at the symposium on September 13, 2021. Please note that due to the COVID-19 safety guidelines in place at the symposium venue, we may need to reduce the number of abstracts we can accept. One presenter for each abstract will be allowed a discounted registration rate. It is anticipated that the platform presentations will be 15 minutes in length. More information and updates about the upcoming symposium can be found on our website: <https://www.research.uky.edu/KWRRRI/2021-kentucky-water-resources-annual-symposium>.
